Labor Day— Dignity of Labor—On the first Monday in September, America celebrates Labor Day. It is a day of parades, picnics and political speeches, a time when we recognize the millions of Americans who make up this nation’s work force. Labor Day means traditions to some, a holiday to others. Just what is it we are celebrating? Why does labor deserve such recognition? Throughout America’s history, we have recognized the importance of labor. From its inception, this nation has been dedicated to the principle of work. The labor of millions of men and women has brought unequaled prosperity to our land. Only as we recognize and maintain the value of true, hard work can we remain a strong and determined people. Someone has said that there are three kinds of people: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, those who have no idea what happened. Today we need fewer watchers and more doers! King Solomon said, “Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with your might. “God’s principle for man is work. God tends for us to work.

"To solve the human equation, we need to add love, subtract hate, multiply good, and divide between truth and error."-Janet T. Coleman
